Fellow pilgrims...

The church buildings are closed but there are many many options still available to us to learn and reflect and share the gospel.

To assist with lockdown blues I have embraced this online world.

Every Sunday there will be a video link put on our website (and I will point to it from our Facebook and Twitter pages) where I will present the gospel reading appointed for that day and then a thought and some homework questions for you to try if you wish.

I will also at the same time put a link on the website to a document that contains the full text that I am sharing and also there will be some all age activities included in the document too.

It's not the same as being together actually but the truth is we are the church whether we meet physically or virtually.

Also.....

More electronic options are available for us to touch base locally.

The newsletter will still be produced weekly to show what is going on:

http://www.lphparish.org.uk/weekly\_newsletter.pdf

And the magazine will still be produced monthly to show what is going on:

<http://www.lphparish.org.uk/webzine.pdf>

And this type of whatsgoinon letter will be produced regularly to keep you in the loop:

<http://www.lphparish.org.uk/whatsgoingon.pdf>

Our Facebook page is initially going to be the main source for us to share thoughts and ideas:

<https://www.facebook.com/ParishOfLlanilidPencoedHeolycyw/>

And I am exploring other things that we can do as well.

If the online Facebook stuff is a bit scary for you then if you let me know your email address I can make a list and will send to your inbox and email each time there is something of note.

Diocese wide...

Wider than the parish there are things that you can tap into with the Diocese at large. So at the moment these resources may be of interest:

Llandaff Matters newsletter:

<https://llandaff.churchinwales.org.uk/llandaffmatters/>

where you can weekly receive the newsletter of the Diocese into your email inbox.

Diocesan webpage:

<https://llandaff.churchinwales.org.uk/>

where you can find information as the weeks continue.

Diocesan Facebook Page:

<https://www.facebook.com/LlandaffDiocese>

which is a much more interactive view of what is happening in the diocese at large.

Diocesan Resource Page

<https://llandaff.churchinwales.org.uk/news/2020/03/covid-19-staying-at-home-resources/> where you can find resources that will help you deepen your faith and remain part of the wider church community.

And finally

Bishop June has written a letter to the Diocese to suggest how we can come together spiritually during this time:

She says "it would be wonderful if we could all set aside some time at 7pm each day to join together in prayer across the diocese." That way while we are physically apart we can know that we are spiritually together.

Remember

I am still only a phone call or an email away so if you are feeling like you need a conversation with your friendly neighbourhood vicar then make a cup of tea , pick up the phone (01656 860337) and we can have a natter.

Or if the sun is shining I can come to where you are and talk through the window on my daily walk.

God Bless

Ian
